

Activity: T-Chart: Fear vs. Conscience

Using the T-Chart you made on the lined easel paper (or on the whiteboard) before the class, ask students to help you fill in the statements on the right side of the T-Chart. Suggestions for statements are in parentheses below.

T-Chart: Fear vs. Conscience

Fear-Based Choices

Stay silent to stay safe

Follow orders blindly

Let fear justify inaction

Think “I’m just one person”

Hide from truth

Conscience-Based Choices

[Speak up to protect others]

[Ask: Is this right?]

[Let love drive action]

[Realize “one person can save many”]

[Defend truth, even in secret]
